Reference to Legislative Secretary as officer who established form of Rules Publications changed to Compiler of Laws by reason of 1 GCA § 1603, § 1605. Subsection (b) repealed /reenacted by P.L. 22-96:1 (03/08/94). P.L. 22-96:2 exempted the Supreme Court rules from the application of this subsection. Entire section repealed/reenacted by P.L. 24-27:1 (05/16/97). Subsection (d) added by P.L. 31-139:1 (Nov. 17, 2011). Subsections (a), (b) and (c) amended, and (d) deleted, by P.L. 31-220:3 (June 15, 2012). Amended by P.L. 34-032:1 (July 13, 2017).

NOTE: The Legislative intent for the reenactment is:

The original intent of the Administrative Adjudication Law was to establish a uniform method of making, adopting, promulgating, filing and publishing of rules of agencies of the government of Guam. It was intended to promote public participation in the rule-making process.

The Guam Legislature finds that recent amendments to § 9303 of Title 5, Guam Code Annotated regarding the adoption, repeal, rescission or amendment process has resulted in cumbersome and inefficient methods for the adoption of rules. There is duplication and unnecessary delay, especially where laws are enacted requiring rules to implement them properly and promptly.

The existing requirement to have proposed rules submitted in bill form imposes an unnecessary additional burden on agencies and public participants. In addition to attending the public hearing on the proposed rules held by the agency proposing them, the public would be again asked to attend another public hearing on a bill to approve the proposed rules, should one be introduced. This repetitive process causes two (2) complete procedures to be engaged in: rule-making by the Executive Branch, and introduction and law-making of the same rules by the Legislative Branch.

§ 9304. Publication of Rules.

As soon as practicable after the effective date of the Act:

(a) The Compiler of Laws shall compile, index, codify and publish all the rules filed with him under the provisions of this Act. The compiled publication shall be entitled Administrative Rules and Regulations, Government of Guam and the Compiler of Laws may make non-substantive changes in the numbering and form of the rules as submitted by the agencies to cause the same to conform to a standard system. If, in any rule adopted by any agency, any standard, codes or manuals are adopted by reference, the same need

(b) The Compiler of Laws shall publish a quarterly bulletin in which he shall set forth the text of all rules filed during the preceding quarter excluding rules contained in the first publication by the Compiler of Laws of the Administrative Rules and Regulations of the agencies of the government of Guam.

(c) The Compiler of Laws may, in his discretion, omit from the bulletin or the compilation, rules the publication of which would be unduly cumbersome, expensive or otherwise inexpedient, if such rules are made available in printed or processed form on application to the adopting agency, and if the bulletin or compilation contains a notice stating how copies thereof may be obtained.

(d) Bulletins and compilations shall be made available without cost to officials of this Territory upon request and to other persons at a price fixed by the Compiler of Laws to cover publication and mailing costs.

(e) The Compiler of Laws shall supplement or revise the published volume of rules as often as necessary and at least once every two (2) years.
