

TITLE 7

ENERGY CONSERVATION

CHAPTER 1

GUAM ENERGY OFFICE

(No rules in Effect)

NOTE: Rule-making authority cited for formulation of regulations for the Guam Energy Office by the General Counsel of the Federal Energy Office, Section 205181, Federal Register Volume 39, No. 10, effective January 15, 1974.

Guam Public Law 12-101 requires that the Guam Energy Office comply with the rules and regulations adopted by the Federal Energy Office, toward carrying out the intent of the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973 (Fed. Public Law 93-159)

However, the federal law mentioned has since been repealed and whatever energy policy there is in the federal government now comes through the Department of Energy. There is no Emergency Petroleum Allocation in effect, nor even in existence as a contingency.

The Guam Energy Office's 1991 function is to administer various federal grants relative to energy conservation and to distribute funds pursuant to the Exxon Petroleum Case out of which Guam receives a share of the recovery. The use of these funds is governed by rules of the federal Department of Energy and by the District Court distributing the funds.
